FLORIDA HIGHWAY PATROL ANNOUNCES SERGEANT OF THE PATROL

~Brannan to become the Sergeant of the Patrol ~

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. - Florida Highway Patrol Director, Col. David Brierton, recently designated Ronald Brannan as the Sergeant of the Patrol, the most senior sergeant in the Florida Highway Patrol.

“During his 27-year career, Sgt. Brannan has demonstrated the skills and abilities necessary to be an effective leader,” Brierton said. “We are proud to recognize him for his dedication to the Florida Highway Patrol and the residents and visitors of the state of Florida.”

Brannan started his career in February 1984 as a member of the 70th recruit class. The Patrol assigned him to Troop E in Miami. Brannan promoted to corporal in 1987 and to sergeant in 1988. He remained in Miami until 1990, when he transferred to Polk County. He has supervised road troopers and contraband interdiction troopers, and he currently supervises a traffic homicide squad in Polk County. Brannan has served as a sergeant for 23 years. Brannon has achieved this honorary designation by having the most years of service in the rank of sergeant.

The Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles provides highway safety and security through excellence in service, education and enforcement. The Department is leading the way to a safer Florida through the efficient and professional execution of its core mission: the issuance of driver licenses, vehicle tags and titles and operation of the Florida Highway Patrol.
